

BUDGET CUTS ARE THE DEATH SPIRAL FOR US ALL!

We all know it is the make-up of a small business, company or governmental organization, is the creators, leaders, designers, daily management and the pure fact, that passion lives within all the staff and their daily tasks, results, and enthusiasm for the citizens or clients are the ultimate objective for continued performance.

recoupeit has at its base, the working knowledge from a law enforcement, military and corporate perspective of a uniform proactive approach. Understanding human nature in social interactions, situations and next event predictability, by using our statistical expertise is at the heart of our success. Knowing the "dark side" and having the empathetic ability to view from the inner perspective has given us the affordable ability to have professional shortcuts and paths to succeed, in a far more expeditious manner. It is an art form that is framed with our client's accomplishments and the knowledge, our street level data information collection, examination, tracking, communications and social techniques, which we stand alone on the financial exposure collections arena for states, municipalities, and commerce.

It is about reuniting revenues with their rightful owners!

Started in 1999 and continues today in Great Britain, by Derek Keene, who is a former London Metropolitan Police Detective with the Fraud Division (The Sweeny) as it is eloquently known as. Keene formed Newlyn PLC, a bailiff organization which is different than bailiffs in the USA. In Europe, they collect all types of debts via investigation etc. Today, Keene is V.P. CommSmart Global Group which recoupeit is part of the group.

Let us examine the underlying factor of why recoupeit has been so successful and dominates the financial collections market. It is the logical stealth means of assertive collections by using our proven, close to the chest approach, which keeps us under the radar of the debtor. recoupeit utilizes compliantly all governing existing state and federal laws to accomplish our tasks at hand. The access to public data with our partners is key to our investigations and uncovering of those that wish to hide their business, fail to pay taxes, including sales tax and disregard normal business channels. This is depriving the citizens of monies owed to received promised services.

recoupeit uses social and technological anthropology to garner our and ultimately, your success in far higher collections of debt that has been hidden or unknown to you. Enabling you to supply the services promised to the citizens of your state, municipality or corporation, completing the financial task at hand with monies which are rightfully yours.

A central concern of recoupeit's anthropologists is the application of knowledge to the solution of financial human problems. From the first communication with the debtor or now known debtor to the receipt of payment, our concerns are for both parties to the agreement, the debtor, and the debtee. Reputation is of the utmost priority as we represent prestigious clients and have set a standard practice for all.

recoupeit anthropologists examine social patterns, financial understanding, and practices across cultures, with a special interest in how people live in particular places and how they organize, govern, and create meaning in their lives. A hallmark of socio-cultural anthropology is its concern with similarities and differences, both within and among societies, and its attention to race, sexuality, class, gender, and nationality. We gain a first-hand sense of how local knowledge is put to work in grappling with practical problems of everyday life and with basic philosophical problems of knowledge, truth, power, and justice. Topics of concern to recoupeit's socio-cultural anthropologists include such areas as health, work, finances, ecology and environment, education and social change.

recoupeit is part of CommSmart Global Group, a LexisNexis Risk Solutions Partner that have for decades been using digital technology, software, social media interaction, public data, and analytics to be ahead of the curve. This means, our clients have the best and innovative services at their fingertips for success.

If your state, municipality or corporation are suffering from economic distress, and to be honest, who isn't in these arduous changing times, contact us and share your problems and recoupeit will review your situation and plan on how we can work successfully together for the common goal of reuniting revenues to those that are owed.
