
Intelligence, Artificial, Logical & Street Level

Societal change has brought its problems, concerns and downright misinformation, all are the contributors to how and why we all have social concerns on the world changes.

How we communicate, answer questions, execute our job and spend our time is out there for all to see, if you have the right tools, permissions or maybe you don't. Guess what, privacy left us since the day of the computer and way before the Internet of Things.

If you wanted to know something back in the day, you snooped, asked questions of others, read people's mail and kept your eye on the individual. It all took time dedication and hard work. What has changed? Technology came along, where you didn't have to get your hands messy or even spend any time searching, the programs on your computer could do that for you.

Companies you do business with want more information from you, you give it freely and willingly. Knowing that you really shouldn't, but you do. Just like today, when downloading a mobile app on your Smartphone, they have forty-three pages of terms and conditions which you never read. Then you wonder why they know so much about your habits and idiosyncrasies.

Many people worry about robots taking over their jobs and Artificial Intelligence ruling the world, a bit late in the worrying factor, because the good, bad and evil have arrived!

Thank goodness we're the good guys!
