Real-Time Communications & Sharing of Information On Security & Daily Information

We are surrounded with so much, in so many directions regarding what is around us. Where do you concentrate and who, if anybody is watching your back? Our security is demanded no matter where we go or any building or facility we generally enter or are invited.

Property owners have a responsibility to maintain a relatively safe environment so that people who come onto the property don't suffer an injury. This responsibility is known as "premises liability," which holds property owners liable for accidents, incidents, and damages that occur on their property.

Facility security has never been so important as of now! So many have unfettered access to buildings, both Governmental and corporate and you have no earthly idea who they are or why they are there. You trust, that is where the trouble begins and ends for some.

ENTRICAL has the where-with-all and experience in security informational sharing across departments, agencies, and borders in real-time. We are not referring to radio or dispatching requested data, we talking about street-level knowledge, situations that are generally reported and documented as notations. Checkboxes limit your historical capabilities for full understanding at the time or in the future. Real-time matter-of-fact moment by moment of events that are shared with all on a controlled administrative basis.

The quality of your Rapid Response Team is connected, in communicative control, even to the public safety agencies you require on the scene without having to dial or push another button for their demanded services.

The Commercial Informational Security Network Sharing Solution (CISNSS) has so many additional capabilities in maintaining connections and shared information with all your employees on all levels. From HR to maintenance, essential updates to general information, all through Smartphones, in real-time, text, photographs and live video, right in the palm of their hands.

It is about Duty of Care, and understanding the necessity of change regarding increased liability concerns in this litigious age is so important on both ends of the security and legal spectrum.

The Law Enforcement Network Sharing Solution (LENSS) has, for the last five years been assisting agencies in sharing vital information for the safety of officers, solving the crime and protecting the public by utilizing proprietary software that is effective, and global in reach.

It has now been brought full circle to encompass corporate and public security being enabled to understand who is entering their facilities, sharing any incidents that are reported in real-time and accessible to all who are granted administrative access. A whole new level of security professionals that have been proven delivered and changes the direction of secure responsibility.

As the corporate owner of a business, you have specific fiduciary responsibilities to your business, including the duty of loyalty, the duty of obedience, and the duty of care. These duties are designed to make sure business owners put the best interests of the business first and work together to make it a secure success.

The Duty of Care is one of the responsibilities of an owner or manager of a business has to use reasonable care in dealing with other people. This duty is also found in tort law where someone who acts recklessly can be held liable for the damage their actions cause. In other words, you're expected to be reasonably careful. For a business, this means to have a duty to be careful when dealing with other companies, customers, visitors, or your employees.

Our commercial solution is based on the highest level of security information sharing with robust, actionable situations. Working with the Casino industry that has so many layers of essential security it has built with extreme levels and variables for all. No matter what size or type of operation, we must ensure the safety of visitors and employees alike. It is about the reliability of Duty of Care, which the legal profession will not let you forget!

It is our logical understanding of the necessity of safety today in the rapidly changing social environment that drives us to have interconnected information which can be shared securely within industries, campuses, and remotely connected complexes. There lies the priority for historical events, including the tragedy of active shooters, domestic violence, aggressive annoyed clients, and all types of terrorism which plague us all today at any time and anywhere.

It is not just about safety; it is about interconnecting all employees with relevant information via our standard messaging and data. It works in reverse for reporting incidents, medical emergencies, and maintenance issues, which improves and documents productivity.

Resolvment means the speed of relevant and precise information shared.

There lies the key, Communicate with us, and let's discuss your next steps.

WE ARE IN THE NOW & KEEP YOU; IN THE KNOW...
